Privacy Policy

1. Information collection. Ice in Space does not collect or transmit users' personal information to the developer, including names, phone numbers, email addresses, or location.

2. Registration. The game does not require registration or an account.

3. Saved data. Progress, high scores, and preferences are stored on your device. Deleting the app removes this local data. You manage backups through your device settings.

4. Device motion. Motion data is used only on your device for the starry background effect. It is not stored or transmitted to the developer.

5. Advertising and analytics. The game contains no advertising or third-party analytics services. We do not sell personal information or send marketing newsletters.

6. Sharing results. When you use Share, you choose the recipient and service. Information you send is subject to that service's policies.

7. Support. If you contact support, your email address and message are used to respond. You may request deletion of the correspondence.
